

HUNDREDS OF SHRINE VISITORS ARE COMING

Hundred and Fifty Candidates Will Be Initiated at Fall Ceremonial Which Convenes Tuesday

MEET IN CONVENTION HALL

Parade of Shriners Led by Band Through Business District Will Precede the Ceremonies

Members of Akkar Temple Shrine will participate in the fall ceremonial here Tuesday, the important feature being the initiation of 150 candidates who are scheduled to have their feet blistered when they are taken across the foot sands of the desert. Several hundred visitors, members of Akkar Temple in other towns, will be here to enjoy the festivities.

The ceremonial will be held in convention hall during the afternoon. It will be preceded by the usual parade. The band and patrol will be in evidence during the day and evening. Arrangements have been made whereby the Shrine will have a special place in the large room recently vacated by the Western Bank Supply company at Fourth and Boston. Long tables are being prepared with a total capacity of accommodating 1,000 persons.

The next ceremonial will be held later in the fall at the ranch of Pawnee Hill near Pawnee when the Shriners will enjoy the treat of a buffalo barbecue.

BOLSHEVIKI NEAR END OF TETHER AND ARE UNEASY

HELENSBURG, Nov. 1.—General Tudentich has advanced to within a few miles of Pakoff, and the fall of the town is expected shortly.

Proofs of the bolshevik's uneasiness about the coming situation during the winter are accumulating. The organization has been formed in Moscow, and a bomb was thrown into a meeting of bolshevik leaders. Trotsky is appealing to the Moscow people to endure the hardships for the good of the cause, saying "Denikin must be prevented at all costs from advancing nearer Moscow." The editor of the Petrograd Tetch, the most representative Russian in Helensburg, says the bolsheviks are absolutely at the end of their tether. He is surprised that the Baltic states have consented even to discuss the possibility of peace.

Soviet newspapers are full of peace talk and are trying to convince the people that they desire peace for their own sake, despite their enemy's bloodthirsty designs.

The bolshevik publication, Krasnaia Gazeta, reproduces a Trotsky decree ordering the execution of the wives, mothers and children of red officers who have deserted to the whites.

MOTHER SACRIFICES OWN LIFE FOR HER BABY

LAKE CITY, Iowa, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Frank Stanfield, 35, gave another demonstration that a mother knows no fear if her child is in danger, when she sacrificed her own life in front of a train near here recently to save her 2-year-old baby from death.

Mrs. Stanfield had only time to snatch the baby from in front of the oncoming train and toss it to one side, when the engine struck her.

The Prize Fish Yarn.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, Pa., Nov. 1.—Hank Orvin, who lives near here, is the author of the prize fish story of the season. He was seated alone in Buffalo creek watching his line, he said, when there was a commotion in the water. A three-pound bass jumped out of the creek and into his basket on the bank. His theory is that the bass was pursuing a minnow. A minnow was found in the bass's stomach when the fisherman cut it open.

It Might Have Been a Human Skeleton But Cops Too Slow

A little bit of everything, including police and much mystery figure in this story

J. E. Williams, who came to Tulsa only recently, lived at 812 South Cherokee late Friday afternoon. Mrs. Glad Williams and a friend, Mrs. Glad Williams, began exploring the basement in the Williams home. The door came to a sudden and rather unexpected conclusion when the two ladies discovered a skeleton in the basement.

Then Mr. Williams Comes. The ladies called the carrier. When Mr. Williams returned home that evening everything was detailed to him. He investigated, and the skeleton looked human to him. He notified the police. And there ended the Friday episode. The police did not investigate.

This is Saturday morning. Mr. Williams notified The World of the "human skeleton" lying in the cellar of his home. A reporter investigated. He withheld his decision and referred to the police. After some urging a motorcycle cop was sent to the home. He investigated. It might be human, he said. He looked at the skull teeth. Might be human, was the verdict. Later the police were asked by The World as to their opinion. All knew at least all they told—was that a motorcycle cop had been sent to investigate several hours before. They hadn't heard from him. For all they knew the "human teeth" might have been the teeth of a dog.

And Next Is the Doctor. A doctor was called. The corpse was carefully unwrapped. It had been packed in heavy wrapping paper. The doctor spent some time before reaching a decision. Finally he located a rib that would fit much better in the side back of center of a human colored Texas steer. That rib, the doctor said, never was worn by any human. But about the teeth. Last night they had not been identified as belonging either to steer or human. They look human. Everybody says that.

What? Why? When? Nobody knows not even the police.

DIDN'T STEAL APPAREL, BUT TOOK IT BY MISTAKE

Upon payment of the costs of the criminal prosecution by the defendant, the case of the state of Oklahoma against Mamie Duggen, charged with grand larceny, was dismissed in the court of Justice H. J. Gray yesterday.

Mrs. B. G. McCarthy, 19½, South Main street signed a complaint Friday charging the defendant with stealing wearing apparel to the value of $13 from the room occupied by the complainant and defendant. Miss Duggen was arrested in Bartlesville yesterday and was returned to this city where she explained that the clothing had been taken by mistake. Under this statement of fact, the county attorney agreed to dismiss the case.

COLOGNE AND ORDINARY BAIT LAND BIG CATCH

YORK, Pa., Nov. 1.—Some ordinary bait with a few drops of cologne, according to two local fishermen, will result in a bumper fish catch. The fishermen, Elwood Hendrickson and William Cross, were fishing along a creek near here several days ago, but try as they would they could not even get a nibble. Hendrickson recalled that he had been told that cologne on bait lures the fish. They tried it. Four bass, three catfish and two suckers was the result.
